2025 Australia Day Award Nominations Nominee - Mr Ethan Jiunn-Yow Chen

Award Category: Young Citizen of the Year
Name: Ethan Jiunn-Yow Chen
Age: 16
Is the person being nominated an Australian citizen? Yes
Address: [REDACTED]

Reason for nomination - How has the person/organisation contributed to the community?

Ethan has made a significant impact on the community by bridging the gap between disadvantaged children and the benefits of sports.

Founded by Ethan, his initiative has raised over $10,000 and reached 700 families, delivering sports programs to children who otherwise wouldn't have the opportunity.

This initiative has not only transformed lives locally but has also shown a commitment to global humanitarian efforts, making a lasting difference on multiple fronts.

How has the nominee demonstrated active citizenship and enhancement of community life?

Ethan revolutionised service learning in his community by stepping up to various ambassador roles in his community.

He represents the UN Youth SA organisation as a student ambassador, Green Adelaide as the Youth Coastal Ambassador. Garnering over 20 "student-coaches" he pulled players from the South Australia state team to coach in his NGO, he has invested in youth development by creating opportunities for young athletes to give back to their communities.

Through his initiative, Courtside Champs, Ethan has fostered a culture of mentorship and skill development, ensuring that disadvantaged and underrepresented children have access to quality sports coaching and positive role models.

His innovative approach has not only elevated the level of service learning in his community but has also empowered young leaders to take an active role in shaping the future, making a lasting impact on both the players and the broader community.

2025 Australia Day Award Nominations Nominee - Mr Thomas Marlin

Award Category: Award for Active Citizenship
Name: Thomas Marlin
Age: 35
Is the person being nominated an Australian citizen? Yes
Address: [REDACTED]

Reason for nomination - How has the person/organisation contributed to the community?

Thomas is a world class cellist and musician who could be playing in major cities like London or Sydney.

Because it was his own route (and passport to London via Singapore) post covid, he's committed himself to building the musical landscape in Adelaide through the grassroots of our music community.

He's a very busy private teacher who has contributed many pupils to the musical ecosystem, through Adelaide Youth Orchestras and Open Music Academy; he has significantly contributed to the success of St Peter's College Strings in ABODA Festival.

Thomas is a member of Adelaide Baroque- their success is building up more performance and listening opportunities for historically informed practice in SA- and a member of Tarawatta Trio, which as a member of Chamber Music Adelaide, is currently celebrating the legacy of Miriam Hyde.

Thomas is an active member of the freelance community in SA and in addition, he has formed the top quality Alma Moodie String Quartet with major professional players in Sydney, raising awareness of another historical female figure in Australian musical history.

How has the nominee demonstrated active citizenship and enhancement of community life?

He works so hard to deliver the best service to young cellists, to bring music to a new vanguard of young players, and to use classical music to provide for his family.

We are in Australia's UNESCO city of Music, and Thomas demonstrates total dedication to the principals of UNESCO cities of music re spreading awareness of and access to more live music opportunities in the community.

He was the cello tutor for the important Adelaide Baroque Academy and participates in Cello Weekends and concerts at Elder Conservatorium. He contributes his high level, ASO-available cello skills to thrive in an area that sadly has traditionally offered very low quality freelance scene, and in addition to that he has nurtured a loving family life for three children with no salary.

He is a hugely active sports fan for local teams in SA. In UNESCO City of Music's decade 2025, it would send a strong, positive message to publicly highlight the activities of a deserving, freelance musician.

How has the nominee's contribution been recognised elsewhere?

Thomas' recent recording of Boccherini's famously virtuosic Cello chamber music with Sally Walker, made in the world class North Adelaide Baroque Hall and released on AVIE records, is currently Grammy-nominated.

Thomas has been reviewed with Alma Moodie Quartet across Australia, in effect playing an ambassadorial role for Adelaide
